VERY IMPORTANT

- Ethics and essential values will be emphasized: solidarity and respect for the organization, runners, volunteers, sponsors, partners, and the public, allied to a healthy sports practice.
- Aware of the immense privilege of those who can run in complete freedom on the mountain paths, it is essential to share this illusion with all those who cannot fully enjoy nature.
- Most of the trails will be covered by mountain paths, traversing trails of eight short walking marked routes. Given its unique characteristics, Marão is the most rugged of the various mountain ranges in mainland Portugal, despite its low altitude.
- When validating the registration, the athlete is fully agreeing with the present regulation.
- The veracity of the data provided is the participant's responsibility, including for insurance purposes.
- If a participant cannot participate in the event, the organization will refund the full registration fee, only if the athlete subscribes to the Inscription Warranty on the legal dates.
- If weather conditions or reasons of force majeure make it impossible to carry out the event and lead to its cancellation, only validated registrations that subscribe to the Inscription Warranty will be automatically transferred to the 2024 edition.
- It is only allowed to change data in the registration until the 1st of March 2023.
- With the imperative need to preserve a natural heritage of enormous wealth in view, we want that you, in full communion with nature, enjoy it, respecting and protecting it. For this reason, we ask for compliance with the competent entities' guidelines.
- For sustainability reasons, liquid supplies will not be provided in bottles or cups, so each athlete is responsible for taking with them the container(s) they consider most suitable for their hydration (preferably also suitable for hot drinks).
- The organization may momentarily detain a runner or compel him to leave the race if he considers that his condition endangers his physical integrity and his safety.
- Except in case of injury or reasons of force majeure, it is only possible to leave a gas station. You are forbidden to leave the marked route without informing the organization and being duly authorized by it. If the athlete does so and proves that such conduct is not duly justified, he might, in both situations, be prevented from registering for future events.
- If it is impossible to cut road traffic in some passages, participants must comply with the traffic rules on public use roads, and must also respect agricultural areas and private properties, under penalty of having to assume potential damages and compensation for non-compliance.
- When marking the courses, the organisation will always use reusable and recyclable material, and it will be done on foot until the day of the event.
- The unbalance of the marked route will take place immediately after the last participant has passed (closing of "brooms").
- The organisation is not responsible for any goods left behind by any of the volunteers during the athlete's participation in the race.
- The organization reserves the right to change the distances and the gap if it chooses to do so. This gap change will never exceed 20%, except for force majeure reasons.

- Every participant waives the right to use their image and authorizes the organization, its sponsors and partners to freely use and publish any photograph or video recorded in the context of the race.
- Any contact with the organization should be necessarily done using the email geral@utmarao.pt, in the due time.
- Contacts made after 20.03.2023 will only be answered after 06.04.2023. The organization is not responsible in case of not answering any other kind of contact, mainly social network messages.
- All information is available at <https://utmarao.pt/>.
- This regulation may change.

1. Participative Conditions

1.1. Participation age

The Marão Ultra Trail is intended only for athletes aged 18 or over.

1.2. Regulated registration

In order to participate in the Marão Ultra Trail, the athlete must have their registration previously regularized within the established deadlines and accept all the rules contained in this regulation. This acceptance is automatically confirmed by the simple act of registration.

1.3. Physical conditions

It is essential to have appropriate physical condition and experience for the characteristics of this event. They are demanding races, a semi-autonomy run of extreme hardness, high mileage, long duration to its conclusion, mountainous terrain, very technical, combined with great unevenness and unpredictable weather conditions. It should be noted that the terrain where the race takes place might have sudden and sometimes extreme weather changes, so athletes may be exposed to weather conditions as: heat, cold, strong wind, dense fog, snow, ice and intense precipitation. It is essential that the athlete has the notion of effort self-management, whether physical or mental, in the face of very difficult, extreme situations, to which he may be exposed, without immediate help or rescue. It is also imperative that the athlete knows how to act in case of minor injuries, gastric upset, among other normal situations, resulting from mountain activities.

1.4. Possibility of external assistance

The support to athletes by external elements to the organization will not be controlled, being allowed at any point on the route, but it is advisable that such assistance occurs only in the announced locations. There, the person in charge, for the sake of coordination, may prohibit, or limit, the access of companions to facilitate the management of the event or on the recommendation of the DGS or competent authorities. It is recommended that the athlete take a cash amount with him, in order to face any unforeseen circumstances and, if necessary, be able to obtain supplies in spaces of the villages where they will pass. Even so, it is important that the athlete has full awareness of his needs during the race, as well as his ability to solve problems in unexpected situations.

1.5. Dorsal

The dorsal is personal and non-transferable and if it is proven to be misused by another athlete, in this case, the athlete is immediately removed from the race and the two offenders will be prevented from registering for future events. During the race, the dorsal must remain easily visible to members of the organization and other entities that support and / or collaborate with it. It is recommended on the chest or waist and cannot be cut, folded or modified.

1.6. Sports conduct

Inappropriate behavior, the use of offensive language, verbal aggression or any other kind, will be reported to the authorities whenever the act deserves so.

the same time as the athlete, to be able to provide due support.

External elements must comply with the same security rules as the organization defines at the moment.

The elements of the organization will manage the proper functioning of the Supplies and compliance with the security rules, namely with regard to the time spent in them, always appealing to the common sense of the involved. SavageNatur Events®, aware of its responsibility in what concerns to the sustainability of the regions where the event takes action and the impact on the environment, commonly called the Ecologic Footprint, will focus all the communication in a digital format instead of outdoors, papers and flyers... The same in relation to the trophies and medals (original products, personalized and made with eco-friendly materials). So, SavageNatur Events® wants to propose, to all the athletes that register in any event, a small contribution of 5€ (optional) for the purchase of autochthonous trees. In partnership with all local partners, Savage Natur Events®, compromises with these funds, to develop tree plantation as well as reforestation on the geographic areas where the events occur. These actions will be dated and SNE® will lead it, following the local partners directions because they know, better than anyone, the local needs and perfect times to plantation. The athlete may join this initiative by selecting “Ecologic Compensation” on the athlete’s area on the registration time and participate in this initiative that will be announced by SNE® on the due time.
